Howard Sheard has over 35 years in the electrical utility business with the Consolidated Edison Company of New York (Coned). Throughout his career Howard has focused on safety and performance. In 2010, when introduced to and certified by the Practicing Perfection Institute (PPI), Howard saw the vision and took his efforts and his message to the next level- Event-free, world-wide-one life at a time.

From that day Howard has been a Champion for Change using PPI Principles in his professional and personal life. Howard maintained his 'In-House' PPI Certification until he retired from Con Edison in 2017. He then Joined PPI as a Master Facilitator to spread the vision around the world. Howard has a passion for uplifting people. He volunteers his time as a motivational speaker in the New York City area

During his tenure at Con Edison, Howard lead and facilitated Human Performance Improvement (HPI) workshops throughout Con Edison's many operating organizations. In 2014, he received Consolidated Edison's Corporate Safety Leadership Award for his role in improving safety and performance through a focus on Human Performance.

Howard held various operating positions within Con Edison, including...

- Senior Substation Operator
- Energy Control Center District Operator
- Energy Control Center Substation Operations Shift Manager
- Senior Instructor
- Area Manager

Howard holds an undergraduate degree (Magna Cum Lade) in Organizational Management, and a Graduate Degree in Organizational Leadership from Manhattan College in New York.
